Sunrise Lakes
Phase 4
Vol. 41 - #2
Feb. 2021

A NOTE FROM MARIAN!

February is for Lovers and we Love you at Phase 4.

We are looking forward to a time soon when we will be able to start all our fun activities that we are used to.

We are having a very successful massive Pfizer vaccination of all residents of Sunrise Lakes Phase 1,2,3 and 4 at our beautiful clubhouse. It was set up by Sunrise Fire Department in collaboration with Florida Department of Health- Broward County.

These wonderful people provided us with this fabulous service. Steve Salkin and our whole staff did a great job in coordinating this program.

Exercise classes are ongoing – they are being held in the shuffleboard courts behind main clubhouse during the vaccinations.

The GYM and Pools are open in a limited schedule during pandemic. See me with any questions.

Looking forward to a bit of Normality.

Marian

THE MOSS TEAM ALWAYS GOES THE EXTRA MILE!

Dear Mr. Merv Moss,

This is to let you know how lucky we are to have chosen you and the Moss Team as our Real Estate agent for the purchase of our first condo in Sunrise, Florida. In the entire process you made it easy for us, leaving no room for stress due to your great communication skills and meticulous attention, experience and professionalism. Actually, you did more than your best to help us getting the loan pre-qualification, searching for the condo, making the offer and successfully closing the deal.

For this reason, we would be more than happy to recommend you, Mr. Merv Moss and the Moss Team without reservation, as a real estate agent for any prospective home buyer. Thank you and the Moss Team for your outstanding job!

Sincerely yours,

Ernst & Marie Norma Alphonse

Patient Testimonial: After 20 years of headaches, I woke up with no pain!

by Dr. Yolanda Cintron

Massiel: How do you feel today, the day after your full mouth reconstruction surgery?

Martha: I feel 100 percent better, after 20 years of headaches and doctors and just thinking that I was going crazy. I woke up this morning and I have no pain; it's amazing.

Massiel: How many doctors have you seen regarding the same issues, your headaches and the pain?

Martha: Well, this whole process started about 20 years ago. I'd go to an ENT [ear, nose, throat doctor], I'd go to my regular doctor, and if I had a sinus infection where I couldn't breathe and had an excruciating headache, then they'd prescribe some antibiotics and it'd get a little better and I'd go about my business. Then, about six weeks later, I'd have to go back and get more antibiotics because it would recur. Finally, I went to a doctor who ended up giving me prednisone. All this time, I am having oral care; I'm going to my dentist every six months; I'm checking my dental records, so it's not like I was negligent in my dental health.

Then about six months ago, I started having excruciating headaches that would take over my left eye and come up over the left top of my head, down left throat side, down into my left shoulder and upper torso. I even thought I had a brain tumor.

So, I went to my regular doctor and all my scans, including CT, blood tests, you name it, came back normal because I'm basically a healthy person. But I insisted on a referral to an ENT doctor and at that time he did a CT scan on me and said, "Well, you have a slightly deviated septum but it shouldn't be causing the problems that you have; there are no polyps, you look good to me!"

So, then I went to my eye doctor and she said, "On your left eye, does anyone in your family have glaucoma?" to which I replied no. She said, "Well you're showing signs of degradation in your left optic nerve." So that scares me. Not only am I going to lose my sight, but I have these tremendous headaches that just won't go away.

Next, I go to a neurologist and he does some tests and says,

"You're fine, I don't know what's wrong with you. It must all be in your head." I then saw my dentist as I was having severe pain with several teeth but I had just seen her a week before; she says, "I don't understand what's going on with you, something's not right, but those two upper left teeth look like they need some extra work of some sort. I'm going to send you to an endodontist (root canal specialist)." I already had four root canals done and I didn't know the difference between a root canal and a crown but I knew I had a lot of dental work in my life because my teeth have always been bad.

I walk into the endodontist's office and he grabs his tools and tells me I need two more root canals after seeing my X-rays; he starts drilling and that's when I got up and said, "I can't do this anymore; I can't even stand the pain of fixing it." I went home, crying; I was real upset and thought I was dying; it was just so painful all the time.

A couple of days pass and I go to have my monthly massage and there was a magazine on the table of the waiting area called Natural Awakenings and the article titled "Mouth Matters" and it just so happened to be written by Dr. Yolanda Cintron. When the massage was done, I went home, read the article and thought, "You know, this sounds kind of off the wall... I wonder if it's really true." I decided to pursue it. I called her and she said, "You can come to my office for an evaluation and we can really figure out if it's in your head or not."

Well, I came over to her office in Fort Lauderdale (we live all the way in Cape Coral which is about three hours away so it's not an easy trip) and she examined me and explained to me some of the issues that she saw in my mouth; at that point, I cried, because I thought if this is really true, I'm not crazy!

So anyway, I came back, she fixed me up and it's the first day after the surgery and I have NO pain.
